

Raise More with Secure Verified ICO

“Verified by Wallarm” status helps ensure investors’ trust with a confidence badge and an independent verification registry after completing an expert security audit of your smart contract and software stack.

Further strengthen your outreach with a security quote in your white paper.

“With the help of Wallarm’s service, TokenStars was able to quickly regain control of its web infrastructure and thwart the cybercriminals’ attempts to compromise its systems. We recommend to anyone who is currently working on an ICO to put their security first.”

Pavel Stukolov,
CEO of TokenStars

Issuer

Verified security and compliance of the smart contract and software stack

Reduced risk of successful hack with runtime protection

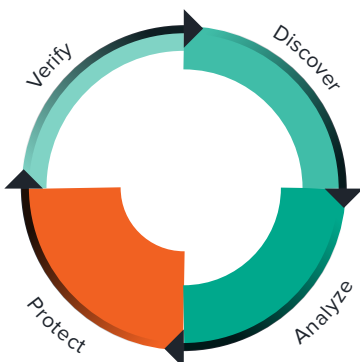

Investor

Independent third party verification of the token platform security status

Increased investment confidence

Continuous Intelligent Security

Wallarm security experts have conducted more than 200 security audits for banks, payment systems, internet companies, and other businesses worldwide.

We have nine years of experience and strong expertise in penetration testing, vulnerabilities discovery, and code analysis. Wallarm is trusted by many of Nasdaq and Fortune 500 companies for ensuring application security. Our security researchers have earned a number of bug bounty awards from the who’s who of the Internet, including Google, Facebook, Twitter, and Yandex.

Recently, several companies planning Initial Coin Offerings (ICO) have approached us to help secure these offerings. The strong interest in security is driven by the high risk of cybercrime and its severe financial impact. For instance, almost $15M or 10% of the entire value of Ethereum’s 2017 ICO investments were hijacked by bad agents, who either looked to establish control over ICO websites or to steal from coin buyers.

The service that Wallarm provides to ICO minters focuses on the security of the architecture, the event itself, and subsequent operations.
